

PRD's Explained To LG CoC, Planning Association

Clayne Munk, senior planner, community planning division, of the County Planning Department played a double-header in Lemon Grove Thursday.

At the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce meeting at noon, he came off quite well. Questions there regarded procedure, mostly, as he explained Planned Residential Developments. There are two in the works for Monterey Heights district of Lemon Grove at present.

When he got to the meeting of the Lemon Grove Planning Association at 3 p.m., it was different.

Many of the residents of the neighborhood of the proposed PRD's were on hand and they were hostile.

Although Planner Munk has nothing to do with PRD's and said so, residents of the affected area were not to be denied. They attempted to ride through a motion by which the Planning Association would protest the PRD's to the County Board of Supervisors. The motion failed by a slim majority. The rejection was appropriate because the Association has yet to develop a community plan.

Back at the Chamber meeting, directors had also heard

President Bob Russell tell that the Broadway Improvement project was looking better. Two of the five property-owners who had been labeled "foot-draggers" had indicated during the week that they intended to participate. The disagreement had been over landscaping the center median and upgrading and maintenance of the privately owned parking areas adjacent the roadway.

Looks Promising

"I had planned to ask the board to drop the project but the new developments make it look a lot more promising," Russell said. He noted that there would be a cost to property-owners when traffic control medians are installed this year whether they approved the other features or not.

It was the most optimistic note on the improvement of the year.

Russell reported that the chamber had been questioned about a local telephone directory that was scheduled to be published last year. He said that a woman who sponsored it had been in the hospital and had recovered late last year. She promised to have it published by February 1, and had missed that date also. Because she has "five or six kids" to care for, the production date was indefinite. Russell said that she had collected funds from business firms to "get the thing off the ground".

The Chamber Board noted that it had $956 cash in the bank and set aside $55 to have the plaza flagpoles painted. Frank Shughrue, manager of the First National Bank offered to pay half the cost of repainting the pole nearest his bank.

On the program of the Lemon Grove Planning Association later in the day, Clayne Munk followed John Farnsworth of the Air Pollution Control Service of the Department of Public Health. Farnsworth predicted stronger air pollution control regulations. B. H. Hoffmaster, Department of Flood Control, announced that a Federal flood control project would be started soon. Broadway flooding, Hoffmaster said, would eventually be corrected by way of a basin-wide tax with federal government support.

As Munk explained Planned Residential Developments under the Special Use Permit ruling, several local people voiced opposition to two PRD's scheduled for Monterey Heights.

Residents Object

Edgar F. Carss, 7458 Tweed, said "The people of Lemon Grove are definitely against the (PRD) plan." He did not say how he acquired the information.

He gave these reasons for his objection: "2 and 3 bedroom units will be built with resultant crowding of Lemon Grove."

"There are no sidewalks in the plan; children will have to walk on the street to school —

"Police protection and patrol in Lemon Grove is already spread thin — this will result in even less adequate coverage in area."

"Overcrowding in area schools will result with addition of students from new area "Development will decrease value of property surrounding it."

"Traffic in area will be increased and result in safety hazards to surrounding area, and

"Overcrowding of schools will require additional classrooms with increase tax to property owners in area."

Charles A. Hyman, 7519 Davidson, said people of Lemon Grove were public minded individuals and had worked hard in the past to better their community. He felt that the proposed developments would

by Max Goodwin

Whose Generation Gap?

Great differences separate the youth of today and the "establishment."

The separative ingredient is common understanding. Many call it the "communications gap." Both the new and passing generation acknowledge this gap. That a gap exists is not surprising because many youngsters can't "dig" the attitudes of the squares.

Just how far apart this philosophy is was illustrated locally at one of the weekly formation meetings of a youth-aid group which will establish a "Life House" soon at the Lemon Grove Youth Center.

Life House will administer to youngsters between the fifth grade and sixteen years of age by getting them off the streets after school and into a place where they can do their innocent things to stay out of trouble.

A discussion almost bogged the project down. It concerned the use of the word "rap" — as in the invitation to the youngsters to "come in and rap." Some of the establishment insisted that the word be changed to "discuss."

One of the smarter young sheriff's deputies, David Pugh, suggested that the group leave in the youthful idiom. "We ought to speak their language if we want them to get the message," he suggested gently.

"We've to educate them," was the retort.

But Deputy Pugh was not to be denied. "Maybe we ought to educate ourselves," he urged.

Nothing was decided regarding the use of the word at that meeting — and that is sad. Already acknowledging that a communications gap exists, the dissidents wanted to remove a key word from the language — a word that bridges the gap.

It may be that in the refusal to accept the language, the barrier will never come down.

It was that staunch and thoughtful newsman, Ted Schwartz, a columnist for the DETROIT NEWS who eyed a similar matter with a touch of satire in the March, 1971 issue of SEMINAR, a publication for newsmen, when he reported: "The generation gap is actually a communications gap. Try as hard as they can, parents cannot seem to understand their children and their children cannot understand the adults."

"Their language is different and without knowing the terms being used, it is impossible to understand one another."

Then he compiled a list of under-30 terms with explanations comprehensible to the over-30 generations.

"By memorizing these definitions," he suggests, "the language gap of the generations will cease to exist and a major step toward harmonious relations will have been made."

Here is his list:

UP TIGHT — They way your son's pants will fit if you let him go shopping by himself.

GRASS — The green stuff that grows in the yard but the kids won't eat.

OUT OF SIGHT — Where your kids are when the Grass needs cutting.

JUNKIE — The general appearance of your kid's bedroom.

PUSHER — Your son trying to straighten his room by moving everything under the bed and into the closet.

HANG-UP — What your children do not do with their clothes when they undress at night.

FLOWER POWER — The ability of freshly-baked pastry goods to draw your daughter's boyfriend into the kitchen the moment he enters your home.

LOST ITS COOL — What happens to the refrigerator when the kids leave the door open while fixing themselves a midday snack.

GET BUSTED — What happens to the family car when your son supercharges the engine and races it at 90 miles an hour while leaving the driveway.

TURNED ON — The condition of the radio in whatever room your children are supposed to be doing their homework.

ESTABLISHMENT — Anyone controlling the cookie jar, the weekly allowance, or the keys to the family car. The establishment varies with the age of your children and ends when they have children at which time they become the establishment.

WORK — A four letter obscenity used by the Establishment in an effort to shock and embarrass teenagers.

TRIP OUT — Something you never seem able to take because your children are always using the car.

SOMETHING ELSE — What your children want after you have worked 18 hours in the kitchen fixing what you thought was a gourmet meal.

And, RAP — What you do every Christmas with all the odd assortment of gift items that are left by the kids for the parents to cover with decorative paper.

Well, that's about it. Except for the Life House.

When it starts in Lemon Grove it will be at the Youth Center on School Lane about three days a week. It will be jointly sponsored by several service clubs in the community; the churches; some interested school people, and remnants of the old Lemon Grove Association.

Youngsters should find the project as rewarding as do members of the Establishment — but Establishment had better learn the language so it can be aware of what's going on.

Year-to-Life Meted For S.V. Holdup

SAN DIEGO (CNA) —

James Thomas Wiley, 20, of San Diego, was found guilty of holding up a Spring Valley service station after a two-day non-jury trial before Superior Court Judge Hugo Fisher.

Wiley was picked up Oct. 31, a few hours after the robbery of the Rasco Chevron Station at Jamacha rd. and Elkton blvd.

Roy Rasco, owner of the station, identified Wiley as the man, together with a juvenile, who came to his station and bought a pint of lubricant. He is said to have told Rasco "Don't write anything down. Just give me the money or I'll blow a hole in you."

Later, the suspects were picked up and left alone in the police car with a tape machine going. That and $99 of the $100 stolen, was used as evidence.

Wiley was found guilty of second degree robbery, the sentence for which is one year to life in state prison. The juvenile, in jail since his arrest, will be sentenced March 17.

Scenic Route Added Here This Week

The newest addition to California's official scenic highway system is a 2.2-mile section of Route 125 in San Diego County.

This route, connecting Interstate 8 and Route 94, was added this week by James A. Moe, State Director of Public Works. This portion of highway traverses the Mt. Helix-La Mesa-Spring Valley area with approximately one half its length in La Mesa.

Mount Helix is the dominant scenic feature from the highway corridor but travelers are also afforded distant views of the Cowles Mountains, Dictionary Hill and San Miguel Mountain. Residential communities border almost the entire length of the newly designated scenic section.

Tax Booklets Ready

WASHINGTON — The government has just released its 1971 tax guides for individuals and small businesses containing up-to-date information on federal income taxes.

Both booklets, "Your Federal Income Tax" and "Tax Guide for Small Business," are available from the Superintendent of Documents for 75 cents each.

Officials describe the booklets as "supplementing" pamphlets each taxpayer receives from the Internal Revenue Service, usually in January, along with his machine-readable tax form. The Guides contain more detailed information and aid taxpayers, in most cases, to complete their own returns accurately and quickly.

The Guides can be obtained from a number of government book stores throughout the country and by writing the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Two Laundry Houses Victims Of Burglaries

Two Spring Valley laundromats were victims of burglaries last week, as thieves used "slugs" to steal money from coin changers.

The first business was victimized prior to 10:30 p.m. last Thursday. According to owner Daniel Perette, who was cleaning out the coin changer at La Presa U-Wash, $3 was missing. In the machine, he found 12 slugs similar in size to quarters.

Committee To Study '45-15' Plan

Trustees of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District Monday night requested a committee to be formed to study the feasibility of a 12-month school year for youngsters in the La Presa area.

The board allocated $3,000 to finance the committee's work, which was to begin immediately.

The committee, made up of parents and educators of schools in La Presa, is to report back to the board at the April 15 meeting.

The committee is expected to study the "45-15" plan, where students attend school for 45 days and take 15-day vacations, for 12 months a year, except for additional vacations during the Christmas, Easter, and summer seasons.

The La Mesa-Spring Valley District, trying to avoid double sessions in the rapidly-growing La Presa area, could employ the year-round plan in 1972.

Under the plan, students could use the 15-day period between school sessions as a vacation, enrichment period, or attend special classes.

The Board also went into executive session at the meeting, considering applicants for the position of district superintendent, a post to be vacated by Glen Murdock next year.

No action was taken, however. It is expected that action on the new superintendent could come at the next meeting of the trustees.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

Some words change their meanings simply by change of word stress. Lastima," when stressed on the first syllable and pronounced "LASH-tee-mah" means "pity." "Lastima," when stressed on the next-to-the-last syllable and pronounced "la-s'EE-mah" means "hurts." In conversation we could then say, "Que lastima" for "What a pity" and "Me lastima" for "It hurts me."

Words from one language cannot always be directly translated and have the same meaning in another language. Consider the word "make" which is literally translated as "hacer" (ah-SEHR) in Spanish. In the literal sense we may translate this to express "hacer cosas" (make things), "hacer una silla" (make a chair), and "hacer pab" (make peace).

However we must use other words to express "make of car" (modelo de coche), "make a mistake" (cometer un error), "make it on time" (llegar a tiempo), and "make money" (ganar dinero). In each of these examples "make" takes on a slightly different meaning in Spanish.

"Modelo" means "make" in the sense of "model." Thus "ultimo modelo" is the "latest make" or the "latest model." "Cometer" means "to make" or "commit" when related to a mistake. Thus "cometer muchos errores" means "to make many mistakes" or "to commit many errors."

"Ganar" means "make" in the sense of "making money" or more specifically "earn money." For example we may say "ganar mucho dinero" which implies "make a lot of money" or "earn a lot of money."

"Llegar" means "arrive" in the literal sense. It is used alternatively to mean "make" as may be used in "llegar a tiempo" which means "make it on time" or "arrive on time."

See if you can learn to say the phrases that contain "llegar, ganar, hacer," and "modelo" as they are presented below. A recorded voice will guide you in saying these phrases when you dial 276-2762.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:
Say "Es el ultimo modelo."

(ehs ehl OOL-tee-moh moh-DEH-loh) for "It is the latest make."
Say "Me gusta ganar dinero." (meh GOOS-tah gah-NAHR dee-NEH-roh) for "I like to make money."

USEFUL PHRASES:
Say "Deseo llegar a tiempo." (deh-SEH-oh yeh-GAAH ah tee-EHM-poh) for "I want to make it on time."
Say "Yo tambien." (yoh tahn-bee-EHN) for "I do too."

OTHER PHRASES:
Say "No me gusta cometer errores." (noh meh GOOS-tah koh-meh-TEHR eh-RROH-ehs) for "I don't like to make mistakes."

Say "Me gusta hacer cosas." (meh GOOS-tah ah-SEHR KOH-sahs) for "I like to make things."

Broadway Improvements Cited As Great Assets

Dear Editor:

I am concerned about the work to be done on Broadway by the County. As I understand it, the County Road Department is going to install islands down the center and traffic control curbs along the sides with light standards moved to the curbs.

I realize they have a Master Plan and intend to follow it. I am also aware that we property owners may decide by petition to include our front parking area in the project with sweeping, painting and maintenance under District control. I understand we property owners can pay for this part of it over a 10 year period on our property tax bill.

I realize this is a heavier burden on property owners with wide lots, but as a suggestion, couldn't this cost be amortized over the 10 year period by their tenants?

I believe tenants would be willing to pay the additional cost for decent parking. I have lived here and been in business in the same location since 1947. What we planned at that time we have since outgrown. My customers and I are tired of the eyesore parking areas with too many potholes. I am tired of seeing the parking in need of sweeping and striping with autos permitted to go in any direction making it unsafe for drivers and pedestrians alike.

It would likewise be a great asset to have the parking policed and patrolled by the Sheriff to stop vandalism and littering. The Sheriff can enforce County Ordinances once we make it a Service District.

To sum it up, I think it would be a great asset to owners and tenants alike to keep customers coming to Lemon Grove. Just a little added beauty like the proposed greenery in the center islands will tell our customers that we do indeed care and want them to shop here instead of going to the surrounding shopping centers. If we make Lemon Grove Number One for the future, we don't have to worry about losing them.

While parallel parking along the parking control curb is not as convenient as diagonal parking we will still have a row of diagonal parking at our store fronts — but importantly, we will have both sides of the curb for parallel parking.

My hope is for a brighter, cleaner, and more prosperous community in which our customers will appreciate the convenience and beauty.

I hope no one takes offense because of my opinion regardless of its outcome. After all, each property owner and tenant has a right to his own opinion and should be encouraged to say what he wishes.

Sincerely,
Bill Vandenberg

Class II Book Can Be Used For Other Cars

A Class II truck commute book may be used for a second Class II pickup or camper under the same ownership. The Division of Bay Toll Crossings said last week. The Class II truck commute book also may be used for an owner's automobile, the Division said.

In both cases the registration numbers must be shown on the book at the time of purchase. But the reverse is not true, that is, a regular commute book cannot be used for a Class II camper or pickup, for which special application must be made.

Regular passenger-car commute books go on sale January 27 and their 40 tickets are valid through the following two calendar months. The price is $15.

In addition to sales at the bridges, regular commute books are sold as a public service by Imperial Savings and Loan Association offices in Chula Vista, El Cajon, Escondido, La Jolla, La Mesa, Lemon Grove, National City, and three in San Diego.

The program is designed to stimulate interest in math ability and to recognize achievement at the high school level. The event is sponsored by the Greater San Diego Mathematics Council and the college's Department of Mathematics.

About 150 high school students and 30 coaches will participate in "chalk talks," a five-minute talk before a chalkboard. Two-man teams will enter a game of "dual dig" where single members plan strategy.

The day's event will begin at 9 a.m. following registration and conclude with an Awards Assembly at about 2:30 p.m. in the Business Administration Building.

Dr. David G. Beverage, assistant professor of mathematics at State, will act as chairman of the field day.

The overall winner receives a sweepstake award, a traveling trophy on which is inscribed the name of the school and which remains with the school until the next annual field day. Helix High School was last year's winner.

High School Students See Heart Surgery

Monte Vista High School's Biology IIC class was able to witness a recent open-heart surgery at the San Diego Naval Hospital.

The patient was a 41-year-old woman whose aortic valve had been damaged by rheumatic fever.

Escorted through the hospital by Lt. J.G. Kubal, the students viewed the surgery from an adjoining amphitheater.

A team of surgeons performed the 5½-hour operation, assisted by hospital corpsmen and nurses. The damaged valve was replaced with a prosthetic one made of a daron cage containing a small teflon ball. By moving up and down with the pressure of the blood, the ball performs the same function as the original valve.

Lt. Kubal told the class that the hospital houses one of the two tissue banks in the United States, and one of five in the world. The tissue bank stores skin, bone, and fascia, which are freeze-dried until needed for a patient.

Local Boy Graduates With Highest Honors

Rudolph A. Chesnik, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph A. Chesnik, of 1679 Larwood rd., Lemon Grove, was graduated with highest honors from San Diego State College last semester.

Chesnik, who has lived in Lemon Grove most of his life, attended Monterey Heights School, Palm Junior High, and Mount Miguel High School.

Pool Fence Law Eyed

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Mandatory fencing of swimming pools will be the subject of a public hearing March 24 by the County Board of Supervisors.

A report from Coroner Robert Creason showed that there were no deaths due to fenceless pools although 47 persons died in pools.

Statistics did not include a four-year-old boy who died recently after being in a coma since Nov. 30 when he fell into an unfenced pool in Chula Vista.

Rancho School Students Learn Art Appreciation

In the first of the three Rancho Artists Festivals, ten well-known artists appeared at Rancho School with displays of their media and the necessary materials to actively involve children last week.

Those artists who contributed their time were Willa Smith, oils; Art Pepin, watercolors; Jack MacGillivray, acrylics; Hiroshi Miyasaki, woodblock and linoleum printing; Jane Patton, watercolors; Mike Howe, silk-screening; Gerald Rife, photojournalism; Dennis Davis, acrylics and oils; Bascom Brown, drawing; and Gene Mahy, drawing and watercolors.

Mrs. Joanne Julian, chairman of the Artists Festivals and kindergarten teacher at Rancho School, and her committee members Mrs. Barbara Daugherty and George Ashton, school principal, with the assistance of the school district's art coordinator Mrs. Pauline Ritter, have engaged the services of a host of San Diego County artists who will contribute to the Spring Valley youngsters' involvement in and appreciation of art. Festivals are also scheduled for March 10 and 31.

Throughout the first festival the groups of children were exposed to and actively participated in the various art media through the guidance of a true professional. For many students this was the first true exposure to the arts. For some it may be the last at the end of the third festival.

The success of the first festival could be measured in the eyes and enthusiasm of the children who experienced another school district "first."

ARTIST — Bascom Brown, who specializes in drawings, was one of ten artists to visit Rancho Elementary School last week as a part of the school's new Artists Festivals program, which is designed to teach appreciation of art to youngsters. The first festival, held last Wednesday, exposed students to various forms of art, from oilpainting to silkscreening. Two more festivals are planned for this year.

Our research program to reduce air pollution is paying off.

We've given top priority to a program to further reduce emissions caused by our plants. For one thing, we're trying to reduce nitrogen oxides . . . since NOX contributes to the photochemical smog process. Preliminary results indicate that our NOX project might pay off.

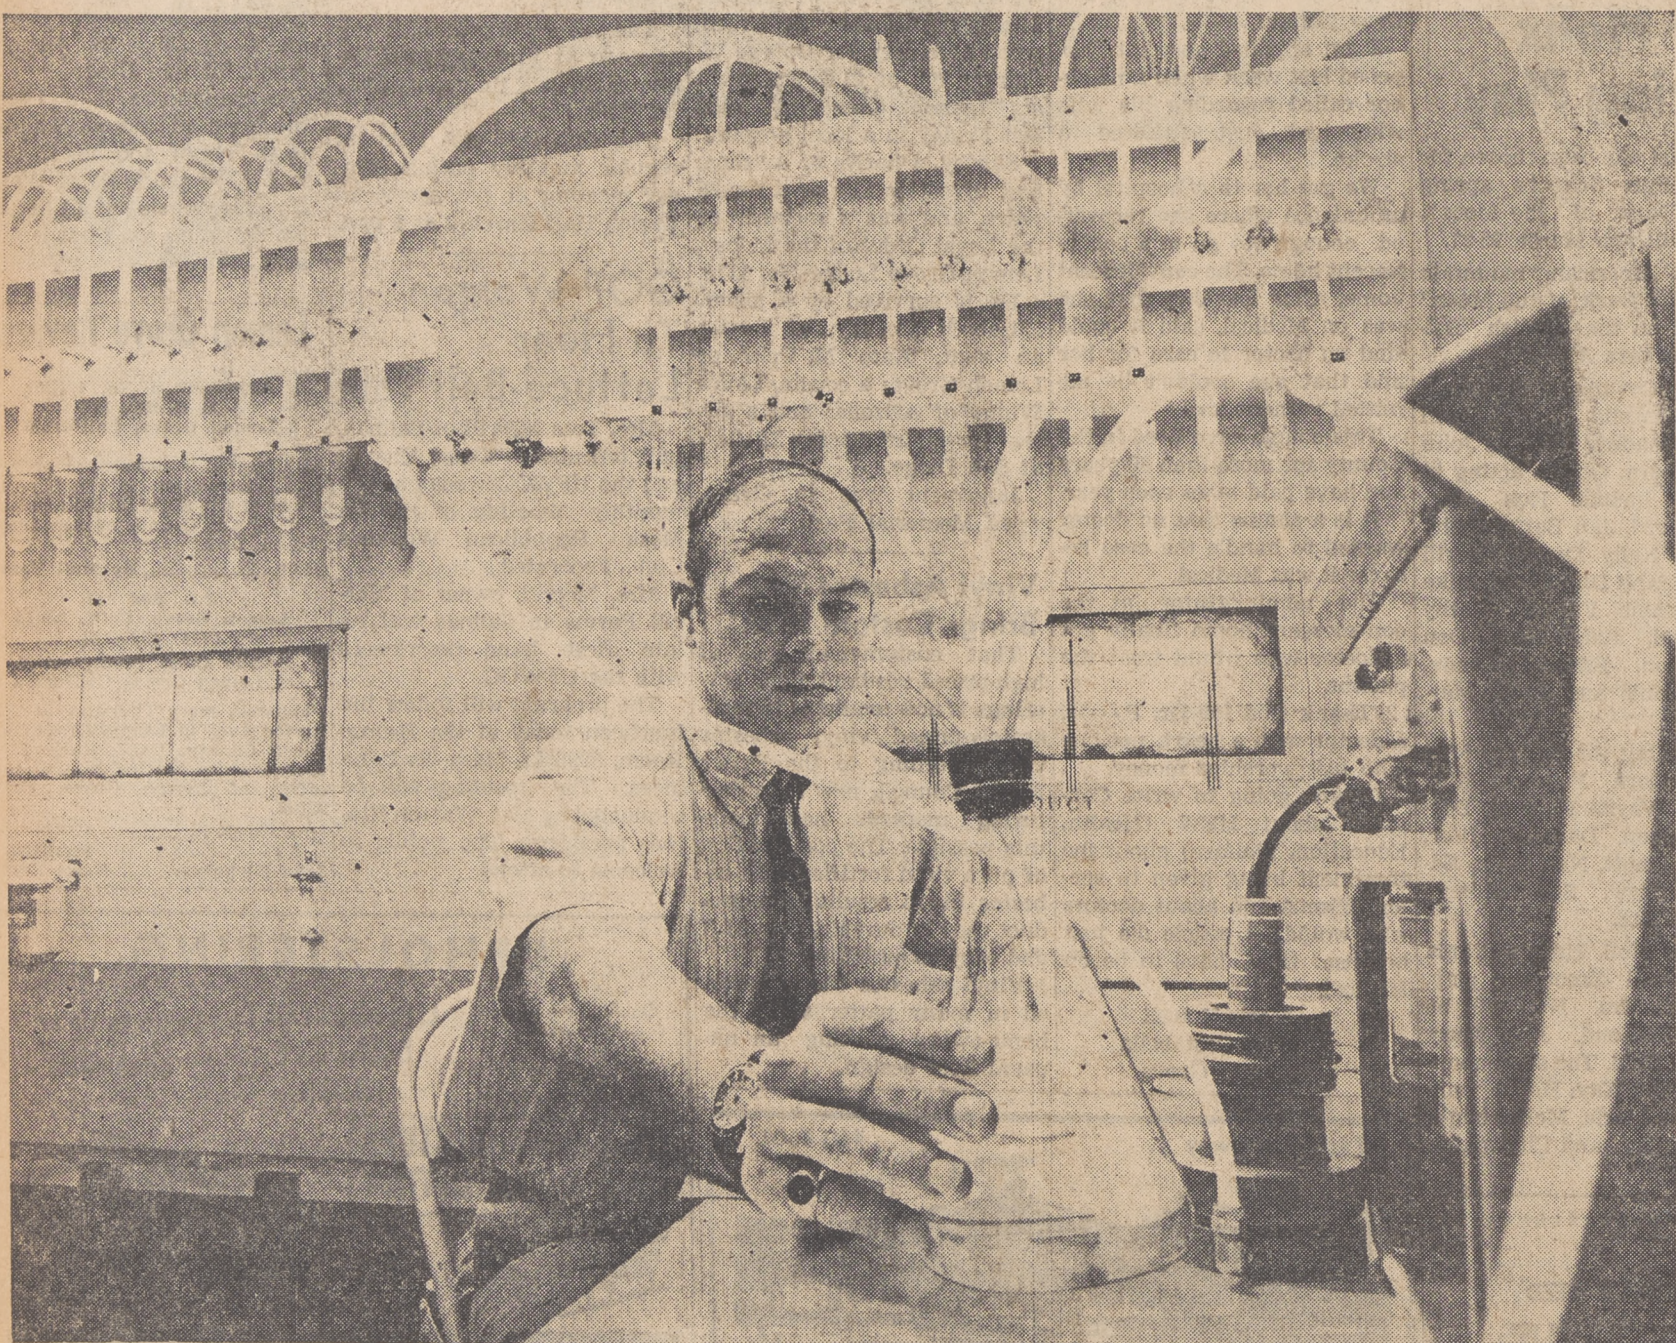

Last September, KVB Engineering, Inc., the leading expert in combustion engineering research, began tests on one boiler at our Encina plant. The tests indicate that we can achieve sizeable reductions of NOX emissions through a change in operating procedures without subjecting the boiler to hazardous combustion conditions.

We're going to do it . . . and we estimate that we can reduce NOX emissions from Encina by perhaps 40 to 50 percent. But it's going to take time, because each boiler has to be tested separately to determine what modifications and changes in operating procedures are necessary and safe.

We'll do the same thing at our other plants . . . test each boiler separately. But that's not to say that a 40 to 50 percent reduction can be achieved with each boiler. What is a safe change for one boiler could be dangerous for another. That's why we have to do it one at a time.

Emissions from power plants are only a small part of the total pollution problem, but that small part is a big challenge to us. We're doing our best, for electric energy is vital to a quality environment.

Local Teams Win CIF Crowns

Monte Vista Cagers Beat Grossmont In Title Game Friday

Success for Allen Bunting was a long time in coming, but he finally made it last Friday night.

As a freshman at Monte Vista High School, Bunting was a bench warmer most of the time. But as he grew older, he also grew taller, and by the time he was a junior, despite having little playing experience, he tasted success for the first time on the basketball court, having made the local school's varsity team.

As a junior center in the same league with Bill Walton, now leading the UCLA freshman team to an undefeated season, Bunting had little success.

But, he kept on working at his game, and this year he became successful as the center on the best high school basketball team in San Diego County.

For most of this basketball season, fans have been saying that Monte Vista was the best team in the county. But Bunting and his teammates finally proved it last Friday night when they beat Grossmont in the final game of the CIF playoffs, 49-44.

But winning the last game of the year was not enough to bring the CIF crown to Spring Valley. It took 27 other games just to get the local team into the playoffs.

The Monarchs won their first 13 games before the league season started. When it did, the local team was hit by the flu and some injuries. The Monarchs lost their first two encounters with Helix and Grossmont, but managed to keep close to the top of the standings until their wounds healed.

Since the loss to Grossmont, Monte Vista has not lost a game.

They went on to whip the Highlanders and Hillers as the league season ended, and were atop the standings when the CIF playoffs were ready to start.

The Monarchs blasted the Bonita Vista Barons in the first game of the post-season tourney, rolled over Clairemont in the second game, and squeezed by Madison, 62-60 in the semi-finals.

In the championship game, Monte Vista jumped away to a 15-10 lead over Grossmont in the first period. But the Hillers, still smarting from a loss to the Monarchs a couple of weeks earlier, fought back to tie the score 24-24 as the half-time intermission approached.

Just before the buzzer, Monte Vista's Jack Cross put the local team ahead again with an 18-foot jumper.

In the third period, Monte Vista came out running, cashing in on turnovers and missed shots to take a 43-34 lead.

In the final eight minutes of play, Monte Vista slowed the game down with a good defensive effort, holding Grossmont's "big guns," Kevin Enright and Ralph Drollinger scoreless.

The win gave Monte Vista a final season record of 29-2, the best mark in the school's history. And it brought success to Allen Bunting.

Student-Faculty Game Set

Members of the student body at Mount Miguel High School will square off against members of the faculty tomorrow evening in the school gym for a student-faculty basketball game, starting at 7:30 p.m.

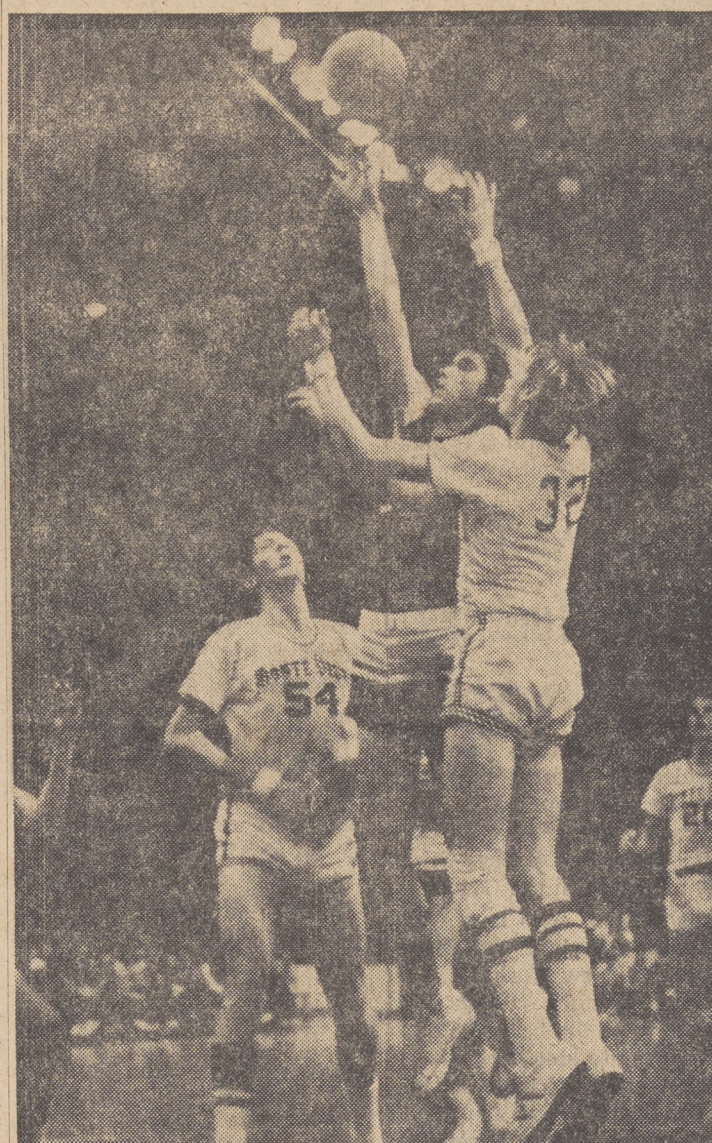

In the first period of the game, the senior boys will take on the coaching staff. Top seniors include John Slater and Tom Young, while Buck Teater and Ned Blass will lead the way for the coaches.

In the second period, things will get a little bit wilder, as the girls' basketball team takes the faculty women.

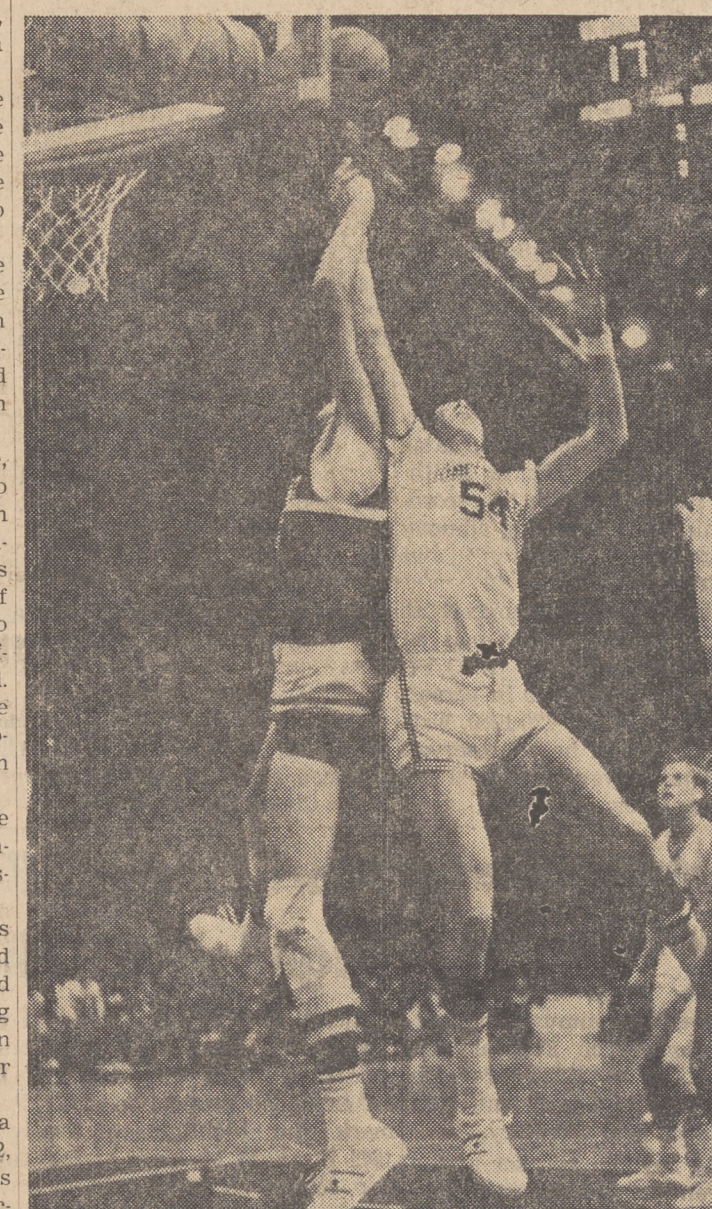

At half-time, the Mt. Miguel Pep Band will take over for entertainment of the spectators, and cheerleaders from both sides will perform.

In the third period, it will be the freshmen boys taking on the "secret" faculty, a group of teachers wearing special costumes.

There are no flying fishes at Mandalay, as Rudyard Kipling wrote. The city is 200 miles from the ocean.

If It's Pitchers, Preston's Got 'Em

YUMA — As the Padres prepare for their exhibition season opener Friday here against Oakland, manager Preston Gomez is becoming increasingly aware of some hard, but welcome, decisions that face him.

It is obvious that the second base battle between Dave Campbell and Don Mason will continue until opening night on April 6. And the same appears true for the scramble in left field.

But the most immediate, and certainly most complex, decisions concern the pitching staff. The Padres appear to own enough capable starting pitchers to fill two staffs and it is the manager's sweet obligation to select the best for his own.

"We've never before had this type of situation," Gomez reflected. "I mean, last year and the year before that a fellow like Kirby just looked around and knew he had a job."

"This year I have 10 potential starting pitchers. And they all have performed well so far. I can keep only four, maybe five."

Gomez has decided to award each pitcher as much actual game-time as possible, before announcing any conclusions.

"I hope to have each starter pitch between 22 and 25 innings during the exhibition season," he said.

The starters include hold-over Clay Kirby, Danny Coombs, Mike Corkins and Dave Roberts. Veteran Tom Phoebus and the acquired Fred Beene are strong candidates. There is the promising Steve Arlin, the impressive return of Dick Kelley and the potentially gifted Al Santorini and Gary Ross.

"It very well could be that these pitchers could constitute the greatest strength of this club," Gomez said. "And that day might come a lot sooner than most people believe."

Gomez also has liked what he's seen of his big bull in the bullpen, Al Severinsen. "Severinsen weighed 245 when we acquired him (from Baltimore) and I told him to get down. He arrived in camp 20 pounds lighter. He's strong, and can pitch every day."

Mt. Miguel Shocks Favored Monarchs To Win Wrestling Title

A long and winding road that led to the CIF championship for the Mount Miguel High School wrestling team came to an end last Saturday night at Grossmont High School, as the local team collected 72 points — 28 points more than arch-rival Monte Vista.

The Monte Vista team, with eight men qualifying for the tourney, was expected to put up a good battle with Mount Miguel for the crown, but the Matadors, with only seven qualifiers claimed three individual crowns and two second places to run away with the tourney.

As the tournament opened, two of Monte Vista's hopefuls were unable to compete. Rick Morris failed to make the weight limit, and Dan Fleury injured his knee.

The Monarchs lost two other top grapplers to upsets, as Tom Cote and Rick Weathers went down to defeat.

Mount Miguel, however, quickly qualified five men, Dale Sison, Geno Cesena, Miguel Cesena, Greg Robinson, and Mark Schuff, for the finals.

In the finals, Dale Sison went about his usual business, racking up his second straight CIF championship. Sison last year won the title in the 98-lb. class, while this year's win was in the 115-lb. division. Sison finished third in 1968.

Gore Geno Cesena, the finals were a bit of a disappointment, as he was pinned in the last period of his match.

For Miguel Cesena, Geno's little brother, things went a little bit better, as he wrestled for five periods (two overtime) before being declared the loser on a referee's decision.

The decision was protested vigorously by a partisan crowd, and Mount Miguel coach Ned Blass.

For Greg Robinson and Schuff, the finals were quite rewarding, as Schuff struggled through an overtime period to beat his opponent, and Robinson managed a pin to win.

The three individual titles for Mount Miguel were more than any other school could manage.

The win for Mount Miguel was the school's second CIF championship in three years, and was particularly rewarding, as the Matadors had to beat Monte Vista, a team that had beaten them 40-10 in the regular league season.

Coach Ned Blass called the title effort "a tremendous team effort." Blass said the victory was more rewarding than the title of 1968, as the team had to work much harder to get the title this year.

Next year, Mount Miguel will again be a contender for CIF honors, as the team welcomes back a pair of this year's CIF qualifiers in Miguel Cesena and Jim Minor.

Additionally, Mount Miguel will see six other strong junior varsity wrestlers step up to the varsity ranks.

Principal Melvin C. Grant called the team's triumph a "herculean effort" and cited the team members for working tenaciously toward the goal of winning the crown.

SECOND CHAMPIONSHIP — Dale Sison, whose body seems to disappear in this photo, as he puts the pressure on opponent in preliminary action in CIF tournament last Friday. Sison went on to win his second

CIF Championship in as many years, and helped his team to claim the CIF crown for the second time in three years. (Dave Wilhite Photo)

Mt. Miguel To Start Baseball Season Friday

By Walter Ekard

The Mount Miguel baseball team, coming off a so-so season last year, hope to improve on that record as the 1971 baseball season gets under way tomorrow at 3 p.m.

The Matadors sport a fine crop of returning lettermen along with an excellent group of players from the J.V. squad.

The pitching staff could be the best in years and the hitters should improve over last year. Mike Smith leads the exceptional pitching corps after coming off a 5-3 season in which he pitched a no-hitter and a one-hitter. He allowed only seventeen earned runs and pitched well in the clutch. Backing him up will be Tom Urban and Wayne Valdez, both excellent starters which should give Miguel one of the best trios in the league.

The hitters however, should show most of the improvement. The infield, with the exception of third base, is set from last year. Mark Shuff at first base is an excellent infielder and should improve on last year's hitting performance.

At second base is Tim Miller, a junior who batted .236 last year. The non-league season gets under way tomorrow afternoon as the Matadors visit the Chula Vista nine at 3 p.m. The local team will play again Monday, hosting Bonita Vista, and again Thursday, entertaining Castle Park.

The league season starts March 23. More than 4.5 million pounds of chicken and more than one million dozen eggs are processed in Georgia daily.

"This is a tough meet to dope out," remarked Wells. "It's early in the season and we don't have too much in the way of comparison marks."

"I do know both schools have a lot of talent and are considerably stronger than last season," continued Wells. "Arizona has a great 7-foot high jumper in Lorenzo Allen so there should be some real keen competition between him and our own Jerry Culp, also a 7-footer."

For the first time Occidental, long one of the track powers in Southern California, plans to enter a full team and will be a definite contender, along with the top three teams of last year.

BACK IN BUSINESS — Morris Polsky, who has been in the hat business most of his life, has started his own hat firm in the San Altos Shopping Center, where production of women's hats will start in April. Polsky, who lives in El Cajon, is back in business after a brief retirement.

LNG Auto Displayed

As part of the annual observance of National Engineers Week, San Diego Gas & Electric Company displayed its liquefied natural gas vehicle that was used last year in the cross country Clean Air Car Race. The car was on display in the West Plaza of the Electric Building, 101 Ash st., San Diego, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Feb. 25 and 26.

The race vehicle was attended by company engineers who have worked closely with the development of the LNG program. They explained how LNG is used for motor vehicles and answered questions.

LNG fuel is a liquid form of the same kind of gas used in cooking, heating and lighting. Natural gas is changed to a liquid by reducing its temperature to -258°F.

STEAMER — Henry J. Denfeld, who helps Polsky part of the time, puts finishing touches on a steamer, to be used in the production of hats. Denfeld, who is in the service, will be discharged in May, when he will join the company.

Hat Maker Back In Business Locally

Lemon Grove recently welcomed Morris Polsky, 64, of El Cajon, back into the hat business after a short retirement. Polsky has started his own production of women's hats in the San Altos Shopping Center.

He was formerly a minority owner of Pioneer Cap Co., of Missouri, but moved to El Cajon in 1963 to retire. After two heart attacks, his doctors insisted he go back to work. Polsky said his spirit was too competitive to accept retirement.

The new company, Southern California Industries, has set up shop at 1819 Massachusetts ave., where Polsky hopes to produce 25 dozen hats a day when production starts next month.

Polsky said he wants to offer women in the area a popular-priced line of sun, fun, and sports hats of good style and quality. He said that currently, most popular priced hats are produced in the Far East using cheap materials and poor styles.

Polsky started in the hat business when he was a youngster, working for his father, who taught him to make higher-quality hats.

After working with his father, a Russian who immigrated to the United States in 1895, for two years, young Polsky traveled from firm to firm in the Midwest to learn all aspects of the art of hat-making.

He finally ended up with Pioneer Cap Co., a family owned operation employing eight people. When he left the firm, 650 employees were working, producing 2,500 dozen caps a day.

And now, Polsky is with the hat business again, getting ready to build his company for the opening of production.

A line of tryout styles and samples of production will be available to the public before full-scale production starts, which is targeted for April 15.

After production starts, Polsky expects to form a corporation, hire workers, and increase the business. He is currently being helped out by Henry J. Denfeld, a service-man, part time.

Polsky said that the main part of his efforts will be to get good styling and materials into the popular-priced line.

Yarbrough To Appear Tuesday At Southwestern

One of America's foremost balladeers, Glenn Yarbrough and the Havenstock River Band, will appear in concert at Southwestern College Tuesday, at 8 p.m. in the Gym.

Yarbrough, who began his career as a choir boy at Grace Church in New York City at the age of eight, and is considered to be the finest boy soprano ever to sing there.

Upon entering high school, Yarbrough directed his activities toward athletics, playing varsity football and lacrosse for three years. Following graduation from high school, Yarbrough hitch hiked throughout the U. S., Canada and Mexico. In 1949, he enrolled at St. John's College in Annapolis, with his ultimate goal to teach philosophy.

After a tour of duty in Korea with the U. S. Army, Yarbrough continued his studies, supporting himself by various singing dates. Finally, in 1959, he got together with Lou Gottlieb and Alex Hassilev and organized the Limelitters. The rest is history.

In 1963, the Limelitters dissolved their trio, and Yarbrough continued as a single, recording for RCA. His success was immediate. He later moved over to Warner Brothers Records, where he recorded his two best-selling albums, "Somehow, Someway" and "Yarbrough Country."

Tickets for the concert at Southwestern College can be obtained from the ASO Finance Office, either in person or by telephone, 420-1080, Ext. 63. There will be no reserved sections, however, advance tickets are now on sale.

Thieves Take Bumper Jack

Max D. Storey, owner of Max's Automotive, 3711 South Bonita st., Casa de Oro, was the victim of a grand theft last month, as two or more unidentified men made off with an air-powered bumper jack valued at $250.

Sheriff's deputies reported that the jack was red in color, but had burned spots due to a recent fire at the business. According to Storey, the jack is inoperative, as the thieves did not get the air valve handle which fits the jack.

More Shows, Bigger Staff, Highlight Starlight Musicals

Increased number of performances, selection of three modern musical classics and an expanded production staff mark the highlights of the 1971 Starlight Musicals at the Zoo season as announced by Gordon Hilker, producer of the popular outdoor summer shows.

Produced by United States International University in association with the San Diego Civic Light Opera Association, the series of summer musicals presented in Wegeforth Bowl in the San Diego Zoo have become a San Diego institution.

"This year," Hilker stated, "we have scheduled a total of 36 performances of Starlight Musicals at the Zoo, an increase of 20% over last season in order to accommodate the demand which last year saw more than half the performances sold out.

"To fulfill our obligation to this expanding audience," Hilker continued, "we have scheduled three major box-office hits of proven wide appeal. Production staff as well as facilities are to be further extended to insure the most polished level of presentation."

The shows announced for the upcoming season and their play dates are as follows: Rogers and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music", two weeks beginning Tuesday, June 29; "Oliver", two weeks beginning Tuesday, July 20; "Hello Dolly", two weeks beginning Tuesday, August 10.

Starring John Wayne and Kim Darby, the film is a tribute to a Hollywood which is readily disappearing. Made by a celebrated producer, director and cameraman and featuring the apparently indestructible John Wayne, "True Grit" is solid, old-fashioned, entertainment in the best sense of the term.

The first two-thirds of the film is especially enjoyable as the roistering, hard-drinking, one-eyed U. S. Marshal, "Rooster" Cogburn and La Boeuf, a young Texas, ranger, set out to capture the villain Chaney, followed by Mattie Ross, a self-willed young lady whose father was murdered by Chaney.

The average farm household income today is $7,244 a year.

Bond Election To Be Held In October

The Grossmont Union High School District Board of Trustees voted Monday night to hold a bond election in October, 1971, after discussion of a report from the Citizen's Advisory Committee.

The board did not indicate the exact date the election will be held, nor did trustees set an amount.

The decision indicated that the board will likely raise operating taxes in the district so that money will be available for construction of the ninth high school.

Trustees noted that additional information regarding more intense use of facilities would be needed before the amount of the bond could be set.

In other action, trustees expelled 14 students for violation of district narcotics policies, suspended one student for narcotics violation, and reinstated 23 others who had earlier been expelled under the policy.

The expelled students brought to 589 the number of students expelled since the policy went into effect four years ago.

Foster's Orchids In Balboa Show

Rex Foster, of 2645 Massachusetts, a Lemon Grove orchid grower, will have a display and green house at the 25th Annual San Diego County Orchid Show Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 12, 13 and 14.

The show, sponsored by the San Diego County Orchid Society, will be in the Conference Hall, Balboa Park each day.

Show hours are Friday, 7-10 p.m.; Saturday 10 a.m.-9 p.m. and Sunday, 10 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Foster, a general contractor, started raising orchids as a hobby several years ago and became so engrossed and so successful that he started raising orchids commercially.

He now has five greenhouses at the Massachusetts address and raises about 80,000 plants as a continuing stock.

He raises hybrids of all parts of the United States.

He also sells cut flowers both wholesale and retail.

An orchid plant with a bloom sells for about $6.50 each at most area dealers.

Foster is the largest seller of seedlings south of Los Angeles, he said. Seedlings sell for $1.50-$3. Admission to the show is $1.

degrade the area and reported that he had seen a "ghetto development" evolve in the San Francisco area because of lack of public involvement. He recommended that all citizens of Lemon Grove become actively involved in the attempts to halt this construction which would result in the destruction of the Lemon Grove as it is now.

Sees New Problems

Dr. H. E. Sorteberg, 1885 Skyline dr., voiced objections to the proposed developments indicating that they could only be detrimental to Lemon Grove and create new problems for the area, as well as compound present problems in the community which included school overcrowding, traffic, taxes, drainage, sewage, etc.

Laurence E. Morgan, 7208 Pearson st., made a motion that the Lemon Grove Planning Association call this matter to the attention of the Board of Supervisors indicating that the proposed developments are of serious concern to the future plans of this group and should be considered as such by the Board of Supervisors.

The by-laws of the Association were reviewed and it was announced that the Association is not an advisory board to the Planning Commission and is not a lobbying group and is prevented by the by-laws from becoming involved in political issues. The motion failed to carry 13-15.

The Association then set a general membership meeting for March 30 at 7 p.m. at the Lemon Grove Junior High school auditorium.

At that meeting more PRD material will be presented and a report will be made on the status of the Broadway improvement.

Two executive committee meetings will be held prior to the general meeting. These will be March 11 and 25 at 3 p.m. at the Golden Avenue Elementary school auditorium.

Elk Featured At Kiwanis Dinner Party

More than 80 persons were guests of Ken Conrad and the Lemon Grove Kiwanis club Friday night at his First Annual Elk Barbecue at the VFW Hall in Lemon Grove.

Conrad, the town's mortician and past president of the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club, shot the elk in Colorado. His hunting mate was Kiwanian Ed Purter. Ham was supplied by the Kiwanis club for those who didn't want to eat elk.

Among the notables at the elk barbecue were Dr. and Mrs. Gigliotti. Dr. Gigliotti gave up his widowhood within the past few weeks to Jennie Lanza of Skippack, Penn.

A no-host bar was active. Conrad is Lt. Governor-elect of the Kiwanis district.

he had heard of the earlier incident.

He said that he saw two persons at the coin changer, a man about 5'10", long blond hair, full beard, medium build, about 19 or 20 years old, and a girl, about 18 or 19, slender build, with long straight brown hair.

He said the suspects left the scene on foot, but came back a few minutes later and left in a 66-68 bronze or tan Oldsmobile, which had been parked near the store.

Dry, Cold Weather Is Week's Menu

Three-hundredths of an inch of rain which fell Wednesday last week was the last rain in this area to date.

It brought the season total to 7.77 inches. This compares with 6.72 inches which had fallen by the same date last year. A storm which dropped 2.9 inches of rain during this week last year accounted for nearly half of the rain which had fallen to that date.

'Wolf Woods' Open At Zoo

An exhibit that would have been the perfect setting for the tale of Little Red Riding Hood was opened at the San Diego Zoo last week.

The new exhibit is a "wolf woods" housing the zoo's collection of North America timber wolves. A half-acre hillside beneath the longer of the zoo's moving sidewalks has been walled in to provide a natural setting for the animals.

"As zoo visitors travel up the moving sidewalk connecting the canyon floor to the top of the mesa, they will have an excellent opportunity to view our troop of wolves," said Ken Marvin, assistant superintendent of construction at the zoo. "The two legs of the moving walk parallel two side of the new wolf exhibit."

The wolf woods, built at a cost of $15,000, is approximately 220 feet long and 120 feet deep. Dozens of acacia trees were planted in the half-acre area. These, in addition to the eucalyptus trees already on the site, provide dense foliage in the exhibit.

Five wolves — a male and four females — were released into the wolf woods from sleeping quarters beneath the lower half of the moving sidewalk.

DMV Tries New Program On Cycles

As of March 2, most motorcycles registered in California for the first time are being issued two license plate stickers — one for the year 1972 and one for the month of registration. The owner will be expected to pay renewal fees on time during the anniversary month in 1972 and each year thereafter.

Department of Motor Vehicles Director Robert Cozens said a system of round-the-calendar registration renewals will be tried on motorcycles. If it works well, the State Legislature might extend the system to all California vehicles, ending the annual rush to beat the traditional February renewal deadline.

A Vehicle Code change made in 1970 authorized the DMV to initiate such a staggered registration system for motorcycles, Cozens said. "It is a cautious approach to a question hotly debated by registration officials: will the system replace one annual deadline panic with twelve monthly panics?"

Owners of motorcycles subject to the new system will be mailed a renewal notice about 30 days before next year's individual registration deadline, and annually thereafter. The law allows them 30 days past the due date to renew without penalty.

Dr. Dean Added To Rocket Play

San Diego Rocket fans will be treated to a double-barreled night of entertainment Sunday, March 7. The Portland Trail Blazers and the Rockets start the evening with an important Pacific Division clash beginning at 7 p.m. The Blazers are led by high scoring rookie Geoff Petrie and former Rockets Rick Adelman and Jim Barnett.

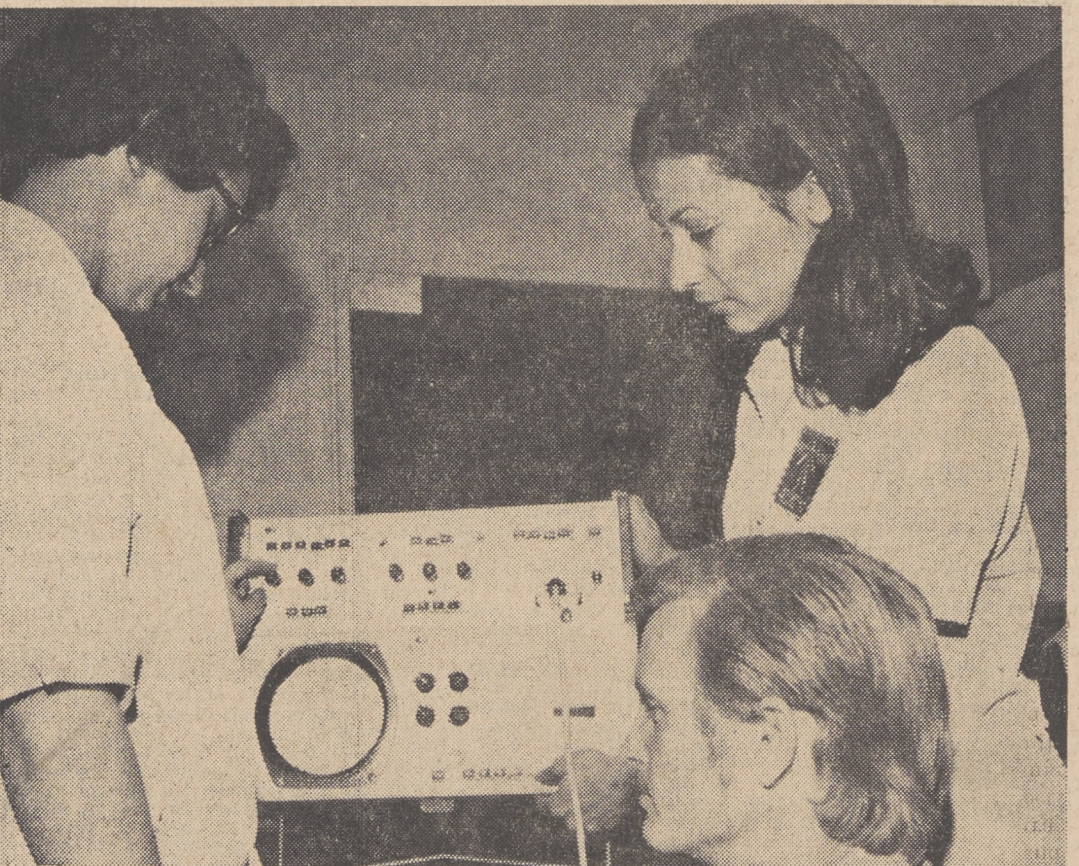

Following the game, fans will be spellbound, literally, when the popular hypnotist, Dr. Michael Dean, will take the Sports Arena floor to present an incredible and fascinating display of almost unbelievable post-hypnotic suggestions. Subjects chosen will be from those in attendance at the game.

This will mark the second appearance of Dr. Dean at the Arena with his world famous show. San Diego fans are still talking about the last performance, held at the Rocket home finale last season.

Then on Tuesday night, the Rockets will hold their annual Military Appreciation Night when the Buffalo Braves invade the San Diego Sports Arena for an 8 p.m. contest.

In making the announcement, Rocket general manager Pete Newell said that it is an annual gesture by the club to thank all service personnel for their attendance at Rocket games.

Active duty servicemen and their dependents will be able to purchase $4 reserved seat tickets to the March 9 match at half-price.

A UNIQUE partnership between Grossmont College and the United States Navy was recently implemented with the loan of a Vectorcardiograph to the United States Naval Hospital, San Diego. The Vectorcardiograph, used to instruct students in Grossmont College's biomedical program, will be used by the Naval Hospital in their cardiac pulmonary laboratory to measure heart signals during the treatment of cardiac patients. Students in Grossmont College's biomedical program will continue to be instructed in the use of the equipment while it is on loan to the Naval Hospital. Students will observe the equipment in actual use and be instructed in its operation by U.S. Naval Hospital corpsmen attached to the hospital's cardiac pulmonary laboratory.
